

*Summer, summer in the sun,
flowers grow and bunnies run.*

Snowballs, snowballs
in the snow,
snowflakes fall and
cold winds blow.

Pussy willows in the spring,
violets bloom and birds sing.

The wind blows hard across the hills,
and shakes the yellow daffodils.

Grasshoppers, ladybugs, and bees,
hop about, bare toes and knees.

*The fog comes on without a sound,
gray, silent, all around.*

*Rain, rain on the windowpane,
splashes once, then splashes again.*

*Jagged lightning splits the sky,
thunder rumbles, wild winds cry!*

*Orange pumpkins, yellow corn,
purple grapes and a frosty morn.*

*Smoke is drifting all around,
from raked leaves on the ground.*

*Starlight, starlight, frosty bright,
fills the spaces of the night.*

*Margaret Wise Brown
A Song for all Seasons
Silver Dolphin Books, 2019*